

Save Wisconsin's no-call list! Before the list existed, I repeatedly entertained fantasies of buying a gun and going after telemarketers and their lobbyists. My fantasy life has improved considerably thanks to the No Call List. I feel much more at peace with myself, and now fantasize about harmless things like drowning George W. Bush in a tub of pig offal. It would be a personal tragedy for me if I were forced to go back to the boring old buy-a-gun-and-shoot-the-telemarketers reveries. Please save the no-call list and the psychological health of Wisconsinites!
